REF : ST/I Office Notice No. 107, 18 February 1957

1. Give as detailed a report as possible about the present health situation in Hungary, stressing among other other subjects the following:

- a. How much ill health and sickness was there during 1955 and 1956? Compare the incidence with earlier years.
- b. What were the chief types of sickness?
- c. What ages of people were sick or in ill health?
- d. What was the death rate among children of less than one year of age?

2. Discuss the health situation in Hungary (contagious and infectious diseases, digestive difficulties, nervous troubles, etc.) in relation to:

- a. Overcrowded and substandard housing.
- b. Inadequate diet.
- c. Too much pressure at work, too long working hours, unsanitary or dangerous working conditions, absenteeism.
- d.

3. Comment on scarcity of medicines and drugs and their unavailability in some areas of the country.

4. Discuss the adequacy of the number, type, education and experience of the doctors in various parts of the country, and the adequacy of the service they have time to give to the average patient.

5. In connection with all of the above subjects, we are particularly interested in obtaining materials which will distinguish between urban and rural areas and between different cities as specifically as possible.
